A Communication From Sidney G. Clay.

To the Democrats of Bourbon county:

I feel it my duty to myself, as well as to the good Democrats before whom I have been laying my claims as a candidate for the Legislature, to make this statement, especially so since my good friend and worthy opponent, Mr. Collins, for whom individually I have the kindest words and the kindest feelings, has positively denied what I have said and covered his retreat by attacking my political record. I want to do no man an injustice and desire no vote secured by misrepresentation or gained by exciting unfair prejudice.

I told some of my Democratic friends that it was reported that Mr. Collins voted against Mr. Bryan in 1896; I told others that it was reported that he voted against Mr. Goebel in 1899. I was handed the following article which I would like Mr. Collins to explain. It was clipped from the Paris Gazette—a paper edited by Judge Harmon Stitt—September 14th, 1899, nearly ten years ago, by a Democrat so staunch in his Democracy that he has guarded it for these many years for fear that some of the members of this club would ask for offices at the hands of the Democrats of Bourbon county, whom they betrayed in 1899.

I will first ask Mr. Collins if he did vote against Mr. Goebel? If his answer is in the negative—as no doubt it will be—why should he have permitted his name to appear, unchallenged, as violently opposed to his party nominee? Would it not have been better and truer and more honest to have gone to the polls and voted as he talked and thought, and was quoted, than to use his influence one way, allowing his name to appear in the public press as a member of an anti-Goebel Club, branding Mr. Goebel, the nominee of his own party—than whom no truer or nobler Democrat ever lived—as “THE BIGGEST LIAR AND MOST CONSUMMATE SCOUNDREL THAT EVER STUMPED THE STATE,” and then go to the polls where no one could see his ballot, when his vote only counted as one, and cast it for Mr. Goebel, in an Australian voting booth, protected from the gaze of his party adherents and the vigilance of all good Democrats, alone for the injury done the nominee of his party in his race for Governor, by his public utterances against him? Does it make him a better Democrat?

This article has been written these ten years; read and discussed at the time and not a denial or a protestation until now, when an office is sought. There was no incentive at the time to distort the facts or prevent the truth, as no member of this so-called Brown Club of North Middletown, “fifty good and true men,” was an aspirant for an office. He denies that he voted against Mr. Bryan in 1896. If his Democracy was so questionable and his party affiliation so lukewarm in 1899, is it not reasonable to suppose that in 1896 he was a Gold-bug as he was a Brown-bug in 1899?

He accuses me of voting for Judge Howard for County Judge in 1894, thereby contributing to the defeat of Judge Mann, and his supporters and friends have circulated this malicious falsehood from one end of the county to the other. I heard this last week and immediately wrote to Lexington, Virginia, where I attended college, for the affidavit appearing below. I was not of age at the time mentioned, nor was I in the State. I have the original of both the Gazette clipping and the affidavit referred to, which I will be glad to show to anyone desiring to see them. I became of age November 24, 1894, and cast my first vote in the good old precinct of Clintonville—where I was born and reared—for William Jennings Bryan, in 1896, and have voted the Democratic ticket ever since, keeping clean and untarnished a political record which I have faithfully and jealously guarded since by majority. I tender this to the good people of Bourbon county to substantiate all that I have said to them, as, above all things, I want their confidence and good will.

Respectfully,
SIDNEY G. CLAY.

Oct. 26, 1908.

Editor Gazette:

The anti-Goebel men of the North Middletown precinct feel proud of the leadership of so grand a man and staunch a Democrat as John Young Brown. They are anxious to give publicity to the fact that they are opposed to Goebel and his contemptible methods. They want it known that they will not calmly submit to being deprived of the time honored right of selecting their own precinct committeemen, nor will they without protest, see the county Judges of this State no longer allowed to appoint the election officers. Whatever others may say, the staunchest and most intelligent citizens of this, the North Middletown precinct, will not be a party to any movement, that tends to concentrate the localized power within the hands of three men, no matter how they may be the purest and fairest men in Kentucky. The brave stand you have taken with The Gazette will make you many friends. In these days of cringing to politicians for the sake of office, and man who has courage enough and sufficient independence to announce to the world, that, no matter what happens to him, he will lift his voice and use his influence against the political enslavement of his fellowmen is really and truly, an inspiration. The boldness and dash of The Gazette is but the embodied thought and spirit of its editor. Even its enemies must admire it, for it has never been known to endorse any principle or idea because it was popular. I could send you the names of fifty Democrats in this vicinity who will not vote for Goebel. The following men are well known throughout the county as influential men in this community, who do not object to having their names published, and are not afraid of the office-holders or job-lot politicians pulling the clothes off of them in a spasmodic and hysterical effort to get them to vote for the biggest liar and most consummate scoundrel that ever stumped this State. Nearly everyone in this county knows John I. Fisher, J. T. Collins, J. W. Woodward, Wm. Jones, Prof. M. G. Thompson, Thomas J. Evans, Watson Gay, Charlton Lowe, John W. Skillman, Jr., Albert Trimble, Hodge Gay, Allie Jones, John J. Redmon. We intend to organize a Brown Club and will start in with thirty-nine charter members and by November will enroll fifty “good men and true.” We have several times sent our names to the Goebelized papers of this county but they have refused to publish them. Long life to The Gazette, the only paper in the county that is advocating True Democracy and is edited by a man that cannot be controlled by professional politicians.

A TRUE DEMOCRAT.

The undersigned, Jno. L. Campbell, Secretary and Treasurer of Washington & Lee University, Lexington, Virginia, hereby certifies, that the matriculation book of Washington & Lee University for the session 1894-5, shows that Sidney Green Clay matriculated as a student at said University, at the opening of said session, his matriculation number being 130, the said session having been opened on the 13th day of September 1894, and Mr. Clay having matriculated on the 15th day of September; that Mr. Clay gave as his age at the time he matriculated 20, his father's name as Sidney P. Clay and the postoffice address of himself and his father as Lexington, Ky. The records of said University further show that Mr. Clay stood all three of the examinations during said session of 1894-5.

Given under my hand this 22nd day of October 1908.

THE DEEP SEA DIVER

Perils Against Which the Modern Expert Must Guard.

PROTECTING HIS AIR TUBE.

This is His Chief Care While Delving
In the Debris of Sunken Wrecks.
Tragic Debut of John Day, a Clever but Ignorant Old Timer.

A great deal of water has run under the bridge since, in the month of June, 1774, John Day made his fatal debut as a diver in Plymouth sound. Day, a clever but ignorant millwright, had laid numerous wagers that, confined in a water tight box and provided with a candle, food and drink, he would remain submerged at any depth, for twelve hours. His plan was that the box should be fastened by screws—from within—to a vessel subsequently sunk and that when the allotted time had elapsed he should withdraw the screws and rise to the surface. His mad scheme was actually put into execution on June 22, and Day, as might have been expected, lost his life. Not the least extraordinary part of the affair is that, while he was warned how the pressure of the water would affect his box and greatly increased its strength in consequence, no one seems to have so much as hinted at the danger of his death from want of air.

The diver who goes down today to save the contents of a sunken wreck, recover a dropped torpedo or execute some submarine erection or repairs has better knowledge of the necessary risks he runs and the precautions by which he may avoid all needless danger at his work than had poor Day. Science, mindful of the great increase of pressure brought about by every foot that he descends beneath the surface of the sea, warns him to go slowly down the stepladder that hangs from the ship's side or the dock wall and to pause frequently as he does so, that he may grow accustomed to the increase by degrees. By this means a man fit for the work, sound of heart and free from apoplectic tendencies passes with little inconvenience from the moderate pressure of eight pounds per square inch, which surrounds him at a depth of twenty feet, to that of sixty-five pounds, which he must sustain after descending 150 feet—the greatest depth at which his work can be considered safe.

Once landed at the bottom of the sea the diver has a host of things to bear in mind. Weighted as he is with brass soled boots, copper helmet and often a treble set of underclothing below his diving suit of twill and rubber, the tendency to rise is yet so great that his powers of action are very limited. He can lift a comparatively heavy weight with ease; the attempt to pull down some trifling piece of wreckage from overhead will probably take him off his feet. Readers of Robert Louis Stevenson will remember how when, dressed in full deep sea costume, he accompanied a diver to his work the novelist was able to hop with ease upon the summit of a rock some six feet high. But descend again he could not. His companion hauled him off head downward and propped him on his feet "like an intoxicated sparrow." Even for such an apparently simple piece of work as drilling a hole in a rock or portion of a wreck the diver will perhaps need to prop himself against a stone or make himself secure by lashings to the object upon which he works.

The great danger against which the diver must be ever on his guard is that of getting his air tube entangled in the debris of a wreck—no difficult matter as he creeps in and out of cabin, engine room and hold, among a broken and distorted mass of wood and iron. He may have been moving in one direction, all unconscious that he is being helped by a strong current, until he presently attempts to turn and finds it vain. It is not the deep sea diver only who runs this risk. Some years since a diver was at work in twenty feet of water repairing some dock gates. His job finished, he gave the signal to the boat above to close the gates that he might see if all worked well. The rush of many tons of water as the heavy gates swung to swept him between and through them. In a flash he realized that his air pipe would be caught between the massive doors and at the same moment saw his only chance for life. He thrust his heavy hammer head between the closing gates, and this kept his pipe free till he could signal for them to be reopened.

The old method of communication between the diver and his helpers at the surface was by means of tugs upon the line, but nowadays the telephone or perhaps a speaking tube accompanies the air pipe at his side. And, though many divers still work in the comparative darkness, both oil and electricity will shed their light upon the scene if need arise.

Sharks are visitors with whom in certain waters the deep sea diver has to count. But the shark is not always so dangerous a morning caller as might be thought. A diver at work in the cabin of a sunken ship saw, to his dismay, a shark swim slowly in. The diver had no suitable weapon of defense at hand, and flight seemed the only chance for life—and a poor one at that. Meanwhile the shark swam to and fro in the cabin as if meditating on a system of attack. The diver made a sudden bolt for the door; the shark—as seriously alarmed, it seemed, as was the man—did the same and, being unincumbered with costume and in his native element, got out an easy first and disappeared.—London Globe.

A DRAMATIC CLIMAX.

Effect of One Woman's Pathetic Eyes Upon a Jury.

James T. Brady, who was one of New York's greatest lawyers, was once counsel for a young woman in a case involving an attempt to break a will.

His client sat by his side. She was a very beautiful young woman, whose eyes seemed always to rivet the attention of those upon whom her glance fell. There was a pathetic expression which affected every one. She sat watching the jury during the course of the trial, and at last there was some complaint that she was attempting by means of her glances to excite the sympathy of the jury.

Then Mr. Brady arose and in one of the most touching and beautiful of all the addresses he ever made in court spoke of the blessings which every one who had an appreciation of beautiful things and could see them enjoyed and dwell for some moments upon the happy lot of the jury who could see the budding of the flowers—it was then springtime—and the charms of nature. Then, suddenly turning to his client, he said, "That blessing is denied my client, for, though she has eyes which seem to look upon you, gentlemen, there is no vision in them, for her sight has been taken from her."

She had been, in fact, the victim of total paralysis of the optic nerve, which had not impaired the beauty of her eyes, but had given to them that singular pathetic expression which she was thus falsely charged with employing that she might secure the sympathies of the jury.

HIS CORRECTION.

The American Knew a Little About Shakespeare and English.

An English literary man who visited this country some years ago to lecture frankly declared that he came not expecting to find accurate scholarship among Americans, especially on purely literary subjects, adding affably:

"You have been too busy and useful a nation in practical matters to give much time to the arts and graces of learning."

During the dinner at which he made this remark he criticised Shakespeare, sharply declaring that his metaphors often were absurd. "as, for example," he said, "Sleep that knits up the raveled sleeve of care." How ridiculous to figure sleep as knitting up a torn sleeve of a coat!

A young American sitting near him said modestly: "I think the word is not sleeve, but sieve, the thin stuff of a damaged web. It is a technical expression among weavers."

"In the United States probably!" retorted the critic irritably. "Shakespeare never could have heard it. He meant sieve."

"I believe," persisted the American gently, "the word is printed sieve in all the old editions. It is not an American word, but has been used for centuries by weavers in Scotland and the north of England."

The visitor frowned and then with English frankness said, laughing: "Thank you. I was mistaken. Perhaps I am mistaken about other things and will be corrected before I leave your shores."

Lofty Tibet.

Although the mystery concerning Tibet has been mostly dissipated as a result of the English invasion, the curious nature of that country continues to excite great interest. Think of an inhabited land covering between 700,000 and 800,000 square miles and having a mean elevation exceeding 16,400 feet, which is considerably higher than Mont Blanc! The loftiest peaks reach an altitude of about 29,000 feet, while the deepest valleys, in the higher parts of the plateau, do not descend below 14,400 feet, which is higher than Pike's peak. Toward the south the valleys sink lower, and rice and fruit are cultivated up to 11,500 feet. Here the most important centers of population are found—Lassa, Shigatse and Gyantze.—Youth's Companion.

The Value of Money.

"Oh, yes," replied the millionaire matron, "we make a point of allowing our boy pocket money regularly. Every week his papa hands Bobby $1,000 in small change—fifties and twenties. It's only a trifle; but, do you know, it teaches him the value of money? He isn't quite ten years old, yet he manages his little revenue with a great deal of foresight. It would amuse you to hear him try to beat down a justice of the peace who is fining him for having killed somebody with his automobile. Yes, we insist on his paying for luxuries out of his allowance. We buy his automobiles, but the fines he has to take care of himself."—Puck.

A Helping Hand.

Among the contributors to a minister's donation party was a small but very bright boy belonging to one of the families of the congregation. After obtaining his mother's permission to spend his money for anything he pleased he went to the village store and returned home with a neat package. In it was a pair of suspenders, and attached to them was a card upon which was written in a scrawling hand: "For the support of our pastor."

He Knew His Mamma.

Neighbor—Bertie, your mother is calling you. Bertie—Yes'm, I know it, but I fancy she don't want me very badly. Neighbor—But she has called you seven times already. Bertie—Yes, I know, but she hasn't called "Albert" yet.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

He will move his family to that point in a few days, where he will make his future home until he is through school.

I will serve oysters in all styles, hamburger steak, coffee, pies and cakes in the store room lately vacated by Ingels Cray & Co., on Nov. 3, beginning at 11 o'clock, continuing through the day and night, serving as long as the returns come to the Opera House.

R. M. CALDWELL.

You want the Lyceum Course. It is entertaining and instructive. An effort has been made to secure four good numbers for the season. This has been done. Buy your tickets early. Leave your name with Smith & Wadell, C. W. Howard or at the post office. Season tickets, $1.00. Ten cents extra for each number will provide you with a reserved seat. This you pay at the drug store when tickets for each number go on sale.

R. M. CALDWELL, Man'gr.

The foot ball game between Lexington High School and M. M. I. on M. M. I. grounds Saturday afternoon resulted in a tie, the score standing 5 to 5. It was a brilliant game, both schools doing good work. The afternoon was an ideal one, and a large crowd, including many ladies, was present. M. M. I. will play Mt. Sterling next Saturday on the home grounds.

LIVE STOCK AND CROP NOTES

—L. A. Soper has sold 4 acres of land near Little Rock to Hubert Potts, for $45,000.

—Geo. W. Wilder, of this city, has sold his farm of 205 acres, near Spring Station, Woodford county, to Chas. Thomas, at $125 per acre.

Foot Ball.

The second eleven of the Paris Athletic Foot Ball Team defeated the North Middletown team in an interesting game by a score of 6 to 5.

Shot in the Neck.

J. W. "Doc" Sapp went hunting Sunday on the farm of M. B. Lovell, near this city, and was ordered off the place. He became ugly in manners and refused to leave when some one took a shot at him with a rifle. The ball lodged in the muscles of the lower part of his neck. Sapp was brought to his home in this city, where he is confined to his bed in quite a hysterical condition. He has told several different stories about the shooting and we have been unable to learn who did the shooting on any particulars in regard to it. Sapp is the young man who was married on the stage at the Opera House several months ago.

Shriners Meeting.

Oleika Temple of Shriners, of Lexington, will initiate a class of about 40 into the mystic order on Thursday. Several candidates from this city will trod the hot sands at that time. After the ceremonies there will be a grand banquet served at Hughes cafe.

BOURBON BANK.

What Chairman Mack Says.

Chairman Mack, of the Democratic National Committee, Saturday night, gave out a statement in New York, in which he predicted that Mr. Bryan would receive 301 votes. Chairman Mack said the election would be a veritable landslide, in spite of the fact that the Republican party had accumulated a tremendous slush fund. He said he understood that the Republican organization had accumulated $3,000,000, which would be used in several of the debatable States. "But," he said, "they cannot defeat us with $50,000,000." Mr. Mack had a conference with Mr. Bryan on the candidate's private car in Jersey City, and said that while Mr. Bryan understood that the Republican National Committee had vast sums of money, he expressed belief of his election.

Democrats Hustling.

The Democratic Campaign Committee has gone to work in earnest and will continue to be on the alert until the polls are closed on Tuesday next. Twenty-five active workers were put in the field Saturday with papers to solicit funds for actual campaign purposes.

Nearly one hundred Democrats failed to register on regular registration day on account of sickness and being absent from the city and it behooves every Democrat to be moving and see that every one of these absentees register today and tomorrow. While Paris has a safe Democratic majority now registered they do not want to take any chances, for Mr. L. J. Fretwell, the Democratic nominee for Magistrate of Paris district, has opposition, and we want to give this old tried and true Democrat a rousing big majority over his Republican opponent, C. J. Barns, who only recently moved here from Virginia.

Social Tea and Benefit Sale.

The sewing club, whose membership is made up of ladies from all our churches, has hit upon a happy plan to express its good will toward the latest enterprise in our town, the erection of the new Baptist church. On the afternoon of Oct. 31, from two to five p. m. at the home of Mrs. J. Frank Clay on Pleasant street, they will have a social tea and sale of delicious edibles, donated by some of Bourbon's best housekeepers. A small admission fee 18 cents will be asked at the door. A most cordial invitation is extended to all. Come and help us to realize a handsome donation for the ladies of the Baptist church.

has had fourteen years experience in the office in this county. He is an efficient officer and qualified in every particular. He is a staunch Democrat and will be hard to beat.

Game Wardens Resign.

J. Quincy Ward and Ed Turner, two of Bourbon's game wardens, tendered their resignations to Judge Dennis Dundon yesterday.

It seems that the officers had summoned Joe Penn Redmon and James Caldwell, of Millersburg, to appear before Judge Dundon to answer to the charge of hunting out of season. The Millersburg gentlemen, however, appeared before Squire Thomason, of Millersburg precinct, confessed and were fined $7.50. Then they appeared before the Judge and plead former conviction. The Judge overruled the motion and fined each of them $7.50.
The game wardens, it is said, considered the fine too small and concluded to quit the game.

Fiftieth Anniversary.

Interesting exercises, consisting of the confirmation of a class of sixty boys and girls and the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the laying of the corner stone of the present church, were celebrated at the Church of the Annunciation in this city, Sunday, Oct. 25. There were three services, at 7, 8, 10 o'clock. Right Rev.
Bishop Maes, of this Diocese, delivered a historical address at the 10 o'clock service, after which he conferred the Sacrament of Confirmation on about 60 boys and girls. The first priest to visit Paris was in 1810. He came to see a sick man named Keefe. This was 98 years ago. Rev. Jas. Gorey, Chancellor of the Diocese, delivered an eloquent and scholarly address at the evening service. He reviewed the history of the Papacy. At the close of Father Gorey's address Bishop Maes bestowed the Papal Benediction. A delegation of two special cars of the Knights of Columbus, of Lexington, attended.

INDIGESTION'S RECORD

"The best remedy I can prescribe for your indigestion, madam, is Green's August Flower. I know of several other physicians who prescribe it regularly."

Indigestion is making an awful record as a cause of sudden deaths. It is beating heart-failure in its ghastly harvest. You read in the papers daily of apparently healthy and even robust men being suddenly attacked with acute indigestion after enjoying a hearty meal, and of their dying in many cases before a physician could be called in.

This should be a warning to you who suffer with regular or periodical attacks of indigestion. If these unfortunate victims of acute indigestion had taken a small dose of Green's August Flower before or after their meals they would not have fallen a prey to such sudden seizures. August Flower prevents indigestion by creating good digestion. It also regulates the liver, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system in a natural way.

Advice From a Thief.

"An acquaintance of mine had a queer experience the other day," said a man who has not much faith in anything. "A short time ago he was introduced to a pickpocket by a friend. The pickpocket is one of the best in the business."

"My friend didn't think anything more about him, but the other night he was in a saloon, after he had been celebrating most of the day. He was pretty happy, and the pickpocket came in. My friend had a diamond stud in his tie with a screw attachment. The pickpocket walked up."

"You may not remember me," he said, "but I met you the other night with So-and-so. Take a bit of advice from me. You may lose that shiner of yours if you're not careful."

"Then the pickpocket looked at the diamond. He said the screw attachment wouldn't stop a good thief from getting the diamond, but he could fix that. He fished around in his pockets and produced a rubber band, which he tied around the screw."

"Now," he said, "they can only get your stone by biting it off."—New York Sun.

"Mr. Huggard caught me in the dark hall last evening and kissed me," said Miss Passay, with affected indignation. "Oh," remarked Miss Pepprey, "I wouldn't blame him if I were you!" "You wouldn't blame him?" "I say if I were you."—Catholic Standard.

She—I understand that drinking is one of your failings. He—You have been misinformed. It is one of my big successes.—Chicago Journal.

Senses of Insects.

Insects guide themselves in flight almost entirely and on the ground partly by means of their faceted eyes. The antennae and the buccal sensory organs cannot help in aerial steering.

Insects perceive the motion of objects particularly well—i. e., the displacements of visual images relatively to the compound eye. They therefore see better when on the wing than at rest, for during flight the image of immobile objects is displaced relatively to the eye.

Insects distinguish the contours and forms of objects only more or less indistinctly.

Insects appreciate the direction and distance of objects very clearly during flight by the aid of their compound eyes. They can also appreciate, even when at rest, the distance of immobile objects.

Certain insects (bees, bumblebees) distinguish color clearly and recognize colors better than forms. Among others (wasps) the perception of color appears, on the contrary, to be very rudimentary.—"Senses of Insects."

The Japs as Jokers.

In the days of the second empire Baron Gros was sent to Japan to demand the opening of certain ports to French commerce. Among the rest he named to the Japanese ministers a certain city. The Japanese functionaries smiled so broadly when he preferred the request that the French ambassador asked them to tell him what gave them so much amusement, but instead of answering the Japanese ministers said:

"We will open the port in question, my lord, if France in her turn will open a certain port to us."

"What port is that?" asked the Frenchman.

"The port of Liverpool." "But, your excellencies," laughing, "Liverpool is not a French port, but an English one."

"Yes," answered the Japanese, "and the port you named is not in Japan, but in Korea."

The French ambassador was compelled to admit that the joke was against him.—London Answers.

The Submarine Crew.

Not until you have gone down in a submarine and seen the crew at work can you say you have seen the limit to which it is possible to drill human creatures. No crack company of a regiment, no fire company in any of our big cities, not even the engine force on a man-of-war, is under such discipline as the crew of a submarine. The navy department and the men themselves realize that months are required before even the most capable group of ten can be made to work as a unit, perfect as clockwork. There is no time to "break in" crews when once war is declared, and for this reason the submarine service is continually and incessantly in war practice. Practice runs in the ordinary sense do not exist. Each time the boat stands out to sea she goes as if for business, the scenes you see being exactly like those that would be enacted were the vessel bent upon actually sinking an enemy.—St. Nicholas.

No Help Wanted.

Scene, a courtroom. A big, burly artisan is brought in by the bailiff and placed in the dock. He is a regular Hercules in point of stature and is brought up on a charge of assault. It is evidently his first appearance in court.

When he enters the magistrate is busy with his papers, but presently looks up hurriedly and, turning to the prisoner, exclaims:

"Have you engaged any one to defend you?"

"What's that?" asks the prisoner; then, collecting himself, he adds: "I don't want anybody. Come on, any half dozen of you!"—London Answers.

Origin of "Pall Mall."

"Pall Mall (pronounced pell mell) comes from palle malle, an ancient game supposed to have been played on the present site of Pall Mall by Norman monks, by whom it was introduced into England.

The observant Pepys in his famous diary makes mention of it thus:

"April 2, 1661. Into St. James' park, where I saw the Duke of York playing at Pelemele, the first time that ever I saw the sport."

How Britain Trains Her Sons.

Home life in England lacks the intimacy and the charming sentimentality of German family life. The sons of England have to leave home early in life to go out into the wide world and fight for themselves. They become independent, responsible men much earlier than our sons do.—Berliner Tageblatt.

Two Sides.

She—If a man loves his wife as much as she loves him he will stop wasting his money on cigars if she asks him. He—Yes, but if his wife loves him as much as she ought to love a man who loves her enough to stop if she asks him she won't ask him.—Puck.

Gave Him Up.

"The doctors have given Johnson up."

"Dear me, is he as ill as that?"

"No; he's quite well. That's why they've given him up."

Quite Refined.

Mrs. Callen—Are your new neighbors refined? Mrs. Nextdoor—I should say so! They never borrow anything but our silver and cut glass.—Chicago News.

"Flattery is like a fairy tale. Even though one does not believe it, one listens willingly to it."

BLOOD

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor. There is nothing else to live on or by. When strength is full and spirits high we are being refreshed—bone, muscle and brain, in body and mind—with continual flow of rich blood. This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take Rattler Explanation.

The rattles of the rattlesnake lie edgewise. It is evident that they must do so, inasmuch as they are but continuations of the backbone. The snake carries the rattles on the ground except when he raises them to sound his warning. This will be evidenced by the fact that in every snake of any size that is killed the rattles are worn through on the under side.—Forest and Stream.

The World of Women.

The world of women divides itself into two parts, one of which is composed of feminine beings which it is more or less possible to fall in love with, and the other where we really feel as if we were in the company of men.—Karl Gjellerup.

Put to Flight.

The baby in arms was screaming lustily, and the man in the gray suit could not hide his irritability.

"What on earth, madam," he spluttered, "do you mean by bringing such a howling brat into a public vehicle?" "It isn't a brat!" retorted the mother, with natural indignation. "And if I'm any judge it doesn't howl half as much as you did at its age, going by the looks of you!"

The man in gray wriggled uneasily under the general scrutiny.

"Baby, see the ugly man?" pursued the infuriated female, pointing at him. "See the monkey-poukey, gorilla man what might take a first prize at a beauty show for the 'orriblest face? Baby, bush, or the ugly monkey man will!" But the sentence remained unfinished, for the man in the gray suit had bolted.—London Graphic.

Surf Birds.

That birds of the family termed surf birds in the Hawaiian Islands should leave that paradise of the Pacific to go and rear their young in the tundras of Alaska would seem to many an extraordinary proceeding, yet the turnstone and the black bellied plover and the Pacific golden plover make the long journey of about 4,000 miles thither annually.

Two Reasons.

"You mustn't play with Mr. Borum's hat, Bobby," said a young lady who was entertaining a caller to her small brother.

"Why mustn't I?" asked the youngster. "Because you might break it," replied his sister, "and, besides, he will want it shortly."

Coincidence.

"Somehow I'm awfully stupid tonight," remarked young Borum languidly the other evening.

"Indeed you are," retorted Miss Cut-ling, somewhat impulsively.

"Do you really mean that?" asked the young man in surprise.

"I merely indorsed your remarks. Didn't you just now assert that you were stupid?" she queried.

"Yes," he responded, "but I only said so without thinking."

"And up to the time you spoke of it," she replied, "I only thought so without saying it."—Pearson's Weekly.

THE SECOND EMPIRE.

Two Picturesque Episodes in a Period of Unrest.

Walking about the streets, riding on buses, junketing up and down the river in steamboats, I was profoundly struck by the unrest among the people, their intense hatred of emperor and empress. One day I caught a glimpse of Rochefort, carried aloft on the shoulders of a mob of students thronging the Boulevard Saint Michel. I never saw a man looking so helplessly frightened as did the founder of the Lanterne, then in its prime. Whether he feared the police or a fall I do not know, but his terror was abject.

In the summer time the emperor paid a visit to Beauvais. On the chance of getting material for an article acceptable in London I journeyed thither with North Peat, who went down as representative of the Morning Star. The prince imperial accompanied the emperor, who drove through living lanes of people stretching from the roadway to the open windows of the topmost chamber. They came to see, but they would not remain to cheer. The occasion was the presentation of prizes gained at the local Lycee. The head prize was never delivered, the winner, a lad of fourteen, declining to accept it from the hand of the hated emperor.—H. W. Lucy in Cornhill Magazine.

ADJUSTED HIS CANE.

Then the Man From Berlin Explained Why He Did It.

A man stood before a shop window with his cane sticking out from under his arm. A stout, blond gentleman in passing struck the cane smartly with his own, restoring it from its obstructive horizontal position to the proper vertical one.

"Say, what's the matter with you? You're the freshest guy I ever saw. Are you looking for trouble?"

Thus said the man whose cane had been tapped. But he who had tapped it, speaking with a German accent, answered gently:

"Why, sir, I did nothing but restore your cane to its right inclination. Absently you were holding it under your arm. It was jabbing people in the breast, the back, even the eye, and yet you meant no harm."

"Well, I stopped that nuisance which you were unconsciously committing. In Berlin it is the custom always to stop it so. And no one takes offense. On the contrary, in Berlin the correction is received with a smile and a word of thanks. Isn't it so here?"

"No, it isn't," said the other, "but it should be. I thank you, sir, myself, and I apologize."—New York Press.

John Wesley's Prescription.

"Here is a rare little book," said a Methodist local preacher. "It is John Wesley's 'Primitive Physick.' Wesley dabbled in medicine, setting a fashion that has not yet died out. Did you ever know a Methodist minister who didn't dabble in medicine?"

The full title of the volume was "Primitive Physick; or, An Easy and Natural Method of Curing Most Diseases." The local preacher said that he had paid $40 for the book, but that as a medical work it was not really worth 40 cents. To show the weakness of John Wesley's doctoring he quoted the following consumption cure: "Every morning cut up a little turf of fresh earth and, lying down, breathe into the hole for a quarter of an hour. I have known a deep consumptive cured thus."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Letters He Dictated.

"Well, goodbye, dear," said Mr. Trueboy to his beloved spouse. "I must go and dictate those letters—twenty-six of them—so you mustn't expect me home very early."

"All right," was the response. "But I wish you wouldn't work so hard."

Half an hour later Mr. Trueboy entered his club and sat down, with three others, at a card table.

"Just a moment, you fellows, before the first hand is dealt. I've got to keep my word with my wife. One of you just take down what I dictate: 'A b c d e f g h i j k l m n o p q r s t u v w x y z.' There, those letters are off my mind!"

Willie Has Such an Active Brain.

"Was Daniel really such a wise man, mamma?" asked Willie thoughtfully.

"Yes, dear, as wise almost as Solomon, Willie."

"Well, mother, I bet Solomon would have done better than Daniel did, anyway," continued Willie.

"Why, what do you mean, my son?"

"I'll betcher Solomon would have had sense enough to charge admission when he went into the lions' den!"—Ladies' Home Journal.

Good Family.

"My daughter appears to have married very happily," remarked a lady. "Her husband has not wealth, it must be admitted, but he has family." "Yes, I heard he was a widower with six children!" a neighbor sniffed acridly.

Signs.

"Do you believe in signs?" "Well, I must confess that when I see a man wearing one proclaiming that he is deaf and dumb I get a little shaky."—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Other Boy's Fault.

Mother—I hear you were at the foot of the class last week, Tommy. Tommy—'Twasn't my fault, Johnny Smith, who's always at the foot, was sick at home.—Circle.

If you wish to reach the highest, begin at the lowest.—Syrus.

A Woman's Back

Has many aches and pains caused by weaknesses and falling, or other displacement, of the pelvic organs. Other symptoms of female weakness are frequent headache, dizziness, imaginary specks or dark spots floating before the eyes, gnawing sensation in stomach, dragging or bearing down in lower abdominal or pelvic region, disagreeable drains from pelvic organs, faint spells with general weakness.

If any considerable number of the above symptoms are present there is no remedy that will give quicker relief or a more permanent cure than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It has a record of over forty years of curing the most potent invigorating tonic and strengthening nerve known to medical science. It is made of the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots found in our forests and contains not a drop of alcohol or harmful, or habit-forming drugs. Its ingredients are all printed on the bottle wrapper and attested under oath as correct.

Every ingredient entering into "Favorite Prescription" has the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice—more valuable than any amount of non-professional testimonials—though the latter are not lacking, having been contributed voluntarily by grateful patients in numbers to exceed the endorsements given to any other medicine extant for the cure of woman's ills.

You cannot afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for this well proven remedy or known composition, even though the dealer may make a little more profit thereby. Your interest in regaining health is paramount to any selfish interest of his and it is an insult to your intelligence for him to try to palm off upon you a substitute. You know what you want and it is his business to supply the article called for.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the original "Little Liver Pills" first put up by old Dr. Pierce over forty years ago, much imitated but never equaled. Little sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.

A Big Industry.

The season's catch of codfish in Norway was about 47,900,000.

For Chronic Diarrhoea.

"While in the army in 1863 I was taken with chronic diarrhoea," says George M. Fetton, of South Gibson, Pa. "I have since tried many remedies but without any permanent relief until Mr. A. W. Miles of this place persuaded me to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, 1 bottle of which stopped it at once." For sale by W. T. Brooks. You need no other guarantee.

Why Colds are Dangerous.

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a common cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that would not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large portion of the world. For sale by W. T. Brooks. You need no other guarantee.

Dwelling Destroyed by Fire.

A dwelling house on the farm of John Allison, about one mile from Brentsville, this county, occupied by Carl Wilby a tenant, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. Wilby was at work in a field about a mile from the house and his wife had taken their small children with her to a spring some distance away to get some water. During her absence the house caught fire and when she returned she found the entire structure enveloped in flames. All of their house old effects were consumed together with quite a sum of money that had been concealed in the house.

Teddy too Smart for That.

It was stated at headquarters of the Democratic Congressional Committee that an effort would be made to have President Roosevelt meet Mr. Bryan in joint debate before the campaign ends. Nothing more than this mere statement could be obtained, and if the effort is made it is presumed that negotiation will be conducted by Chairman Mack and Chairman Hitchcock. It is not believed the President will consent to engage in joint debate with Mr. Bryan or any other representative of the Democratic ticket. It is possible that Mr. Roosevelt will speak in New York on the night of October 30, at Carnegie Hall.

DEATHS.

—A telegram to friends in Lexington announced the death of Mr. K. B. Snyder, at Salisbury N. C. Mr. Snyder resided in Lexington, where he leaves a wife and two children. He was about 36 years old and a prominent odd fellow. He was a brother to Mr. John Snyder of this city.

Governor Willson at Frankfort, Friday night, in speaking in the interest of the Republican national ticket, took occasion to revive the night rider troubles, and during the course of his remarks fired a broadside into Clarence Lebus, president of the Burley Tobacco Society. He made this statement: "In my efforts to restore peace," he said, "I have had the solid backing of almost every Republican and of a majority of the Democrats, but down in the dark tobacco district every night rider who is a Democrat, and many Republicans like Lebus are working for and will vote for James, Stanley and Thomas the Democratic nominees for Congress."

Mrs. McCreary Dead.

Mrs. James B. McCreary, wife of Senator James B. McCreary, died at 9 o'clock Thursday night. Mrs. McCreary had been ill for two years. Two weeks ago her illness took a critical turn, and for forty-eight hours before her death she was unconscious. Mrs. McCreary was one of the best-known women in Central Kentucky. She was one of the social leaders of Washington besides her home in Richmond. She is survived by her husband and son, Robert McCreary, of Chicago, who reached his mother's bedside before her death.

Senator McCreary has received many telegrams of sympathy from Washington and other points. The funeral took place Saturday afternoon from the Presbyterian church. The services were conducted by the Rev. Addison J. Smith. The burial in Richmond cemetery.

Extensive Improvement Assured

Superintendent W. H. Anderson, of the L. & N., was present at the meeting of the Paris Commercial Club at its last meeting and assured officers and members of the Club that the extensive improvements planned a year ago when the railroad company purchased of W. A. Bacon, for $9,000, thirteen acres of land at the junction of the company's tracks in South Paris, the carrying out of which was temporarily suspended owing to the financial disturbances, will next spring or sooner, be taken up and pushed as rapidly as possible to a successful termination.

In addition to purchasing the Bacon property, the railroad company has purchased of the owners, the entire row of residences in negro suburb of Claysville adjoining the company's right of way, all of which will be removed, and several new tracks laid that will extend from the Winchester street crossing to the junction.

The improvements contemplated by the engineering department of the road embrace sixteen new tracks, round house, machine shops, and new passenger depot, and will cost approximately $250,000.

About the ugliest piece of gold money that has ever been issued by this great government can be seen in A. J. Winters' show window. They are new $20 gold pieces with "In God We Trust" omitted. It is one of Roosevelt's bright ideas.

THEATRICAL.

—Miss Marian West, the leading lady of the "Power of Love" company, who will be at the Opera House Saturday, is not only one of the best known actresses on the stage today, but also the possessor of a most expensive wardrobe. In the "Power of Love" Miss West displays some elegant models of the tailors art, including a diaphanous gown, which is pronounced by lady patrons a gem, and is alone well worth seeing. As a special feature, the joint management of the company and of the Opera House have arranged to have the vaudeville bill playing here this week to appear between the acts, and so make it a continuous performance. Popular prices will prevail. Reserve your seats on time at Oberdorfer's drug store.

—Herbert B. Chesley and company presenting the beautiful playlet entitled, "An Episode in '61," is one of the features at the Grand this week. This is a metropolitan attraction and one of the highest priced acts in vaudeville. The press all over the country bestows nothing but the highest praise. The plot deals with a child who appears before Abraham Lincoln at the White House pleading for her father's life, he having been condemned to be shot for deserting. The child part is portrayed by little Ethel Barr, known in New York as the Little Bernhardt of America.

Charley York in the "Musical Janitor," is said to have the most unique of all vaudeville acts. His act embraces a number of new and costly instruments and is woven together in such a way as to be on the musical comedy order, embracing high-class musical numbers and an abundance of wholesome comedy and his act is endorsed by the press wherever he has played as being the very best of musical acts and a feature on any bill.
